I discovered the underwater world while on holiday in Mexico, warm waters, sharks, coral reefs, amazing, it opened a whole new world of adventure and exploration, and I've never looked back. Since then, the world has literally been my oyster, diving in some amazing places around the world. The diving community are awesome and I've been lucky to meet some great people on my travels who have become good friends.

What type of diving is my favourite? I've dived wrecks, reefs, cenote's, and loved them all but diving with Sharks is always at the top of my list. Warm or cold water? It doesn't matter, you wear the right gear and you stay warm.

Some of my best dives have been around the UK waters with St Abbs being one of my favourite places. What advice would I give? Just go for it, you'll never look back and you'll meet some great people along the way.
