I finally got round to setting time aside to learn to scuba dive in 2017 after years of putting it off. I was lucky enough to complete my open water and advanced open water courses in Thailand. As many have said before I was immediately hooked and knew I wanted to increase my knowledge and capabilities, however the thought of diving in the UK didn't really fill me with joy!

Over the next few years I had various trips back to Thailand and Mexico to do as much diving as I could with a plan in the back of my mind to take a few months off and complete my divemaster training in Indonesia. Then Covid happened and put an end to that...

With all the uncertainty of travelling unfolding I decided to do my DM training in the UK and I am so glad I did, not only have I met some incredible people and made some lifelong friends, I have also discovered that the UK has some absolutely amazing diving.

If you choose to take a scuba qualification here at ROHO I can guarantee that you will be in fantastic hands with some awesome instructors and you will also have a lot of fun along the way. FACT!!
